

ONLINE TRAINING

DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES ADMINISTRATION

The Anatomy of a Meltdown Behavioral Ecology

Presented by:

Kenzie Bush, MS, Lee Ferguson MSW, LICSW.

Working with people who have been diagnosed with both mental illness and developmental/intellectual disabilities can be challenging.

This course will provide you with an understanding of what happens in the brain during times of stress, why people are unable to “just stop”, and strategies to avoid the next big meltdown. Attendees will learn new tools and techniques to lessen the severity of target behaviors and encourage the use of replacement behaviors.

Date: November 19, 2025

Time: 9:00am – 4:00pm

Location: Online

To Register: Please email Erica Hernandez at erica.hernandez@dshs.wa.gov and provide the following:

- Name of training
- Email address
- Student name
- Job title
- Agency affiliation for each student

Class Size: Limited to 30 Participants

6 CE Credits