

Labor Market Information Checklist

Upon completion of receiving instruction on accessing electronic local labor market information the participant should be able to:

- Identify if a job in the local labor market is in demand
- Identify the median wage for jobs in the local labor
- Find employers in the local area that typically hire for the type of work they are seeking